CIS761 Class Project - Database Application

Project proposal

The proposal is meant to get you to identify teammates for the project, select an application to work on, and spell out the desired functionality. Clearly describe your application domain and desired functionality in plain English.